

Iraq Reconstruction

October 13, 2004

Logistics Plus has a special division dedicated to the management and delivery of project cargo for clients such as General Electric, Babcock Power and other large companies. We become personally involved in each transaction in order to ensure timely and on-budget completion of all transportation.

In 2004 we have focused on Reconstruction cargo to Iraq. Our trademark "passion for excellence" requires that we anticipate any potential situation associated with performing logistics functions in a war zone. To date we have managed over 3 million pounds of cargo via air and ocean freight into Iraq via Jordan, Dubai and Kuwait.

The keys to success in this volatile region are 1) creative, cost-saving approaches to freight movement; 2) constant vigilance and communication during each movement; and 3) subcontractor/partners within the region who share our sense of urgency and dedication.

Logistics Plus prides itself on its ability to quickly adapt to changing circumstances. Together with our partners in the region, we have formed a formidable team to move CPA cargo. They have been so pleased with our efforts that they have placed us on their list of preferred logistics providers for the region.

Previous Experience

Logistics Plus offers LCL, FCL, break-bulk, part-charter, full air charter and expedited freight services. Here are just a few examples of recent shipments:

1. Partial air charter of over 1 million pounds of over-dimensional freight within a six-week period, from the U.S. into Kuwait, then via truck to northern Iraq. The targeted completion date was June 30, 2004 – all material was actually delivered by June 28, 2004.
2. Three break-bulk ocean freight shipments of 60 to 75-ton generators and auxiliary equipment from Malaysia to Baghdad via Kuwait. This extremely oversize freight was a challenge to move inland, but the first consignment delivered without incident (the two latter shipments are still in transit).

There is no project that we cannot handle, and we have won contracts over much larger competitors. The reason for this is simple: we are small enough to care about absolutely every detail of every shipment, and it shows in the execution. We have received high praise from the CPA and our clients (see references) for our exceptional performance.
